Last week's Piedmont Junior Hog Show and Sale is a good program. Gives a youngster an opportunity to feed a pig for 3 to 4 months and away he goes. It's a good experience in learning to select and care for an animal. In the show ring he or she also gets a lesson in how to win or loose and that's life. Why not plan now for your youngster to enter the show.

If You're Between 10 and 21 And Sew

It's almost time for the Make It Yourself With Wool contest. So, if you're interested in entering please read on. The contest for this District will be held on Saturday, October 14, in Nottoway.

There will be three age groups this year, Pre-teens (age 10-13), Junior (14-16), and Senior (17-21). Pre-teens may enter in the following categories -- pants, skirts, or jumpers. Juniors and Seniors may enter a coat, dress, or two peice suit.

The deadline for entering is October 1, but you may enter now, even though your wool garment may not be finished. The garment must be made from American made yarn, or American knitted wool. It must be 100% wool, or not less than 95%. If you are uncertain of your fabric, the American Wool Council will test it at no charge but you must allow one month for the test.

Please contact the County Extension Office if you desire an entry blank or have any questions. The prizes on the national level include a trip to Europe, luggage, scholarships, bonds, etc. Happy Sewing!

4-H and FFA Market Hog Show Held In Farmville

The Piedmont Junior Market Hog Show and Sale was held Thursday, August 10 at the Farmville Livestock Market. 4-H and FFA members participating and showing animals at this year's event were from Appomattox: Johanna Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Coleman; Charlene Shrock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Shrock, Tommy Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wheeler; and Robert Dyess, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Dyess.

Top money winner from Appomattox was Tommy Wheeler who exhibited the first place truck load of 5 animals, 4th place pen of 3 hogs, and 2nd and 9th place single hogs. Also winning cash prizes from Appomattox were Charlene Shrock with a 3rd place single entry, and Robert Dyess with a 5th place single hog. Robert also was 5th in a showmanship class.

A judging team composed of Tommy Wheeler, Robert Dyess and Ed Dike won first place in a junior contest and will receive an engraved plaque. Tommy Wheeler was first high individual and Robert Dyess 3rd high individual.

The show was judged by Mr. John Parker, Program Supervisor of the Virginia Pork Industry Commission.

Prize money for the show was donated by Mr. Ralph King of King's Supermarkets. Buyers contributing to the sale of the animals included Virginia National Bank, Dinneen Feed Products, Lynchburg Livestock Market, Luter, Inc. of Smithfield and Mr. Clyde Childress.

Tommy Wheeler (next to fence) exhibits exhibits single hog during Junior Market Hog Show and Sale. Tommy was top prize money winner for Appomattox.

Robert Dyess (next to fence with cap) exhibits showmanship style that won 5th prize at Junior Market Hog Show and Sale.

Field Day August 24th

Farmers, farm supply dealers and other interested persons from Appomattox County will participate in the Centennial Field Day on Piedmont Research Station at Orange Thursday, August 24. J. A. Smith advises that the field day proceeding will start at 1:00 p.m. and the public is invited to come. Dr. T. B. Hutcheson, Jr., Head Agronomy Department of VPI & SU will introduce Director of Centennial Programs, G. W. Litton, who will speak upon a "A Century of Progress."

Following Mr. Litton's address, the group will tour the research plots. Persons directly responsible for research on No-till corn, Alfalfa Varieties and Management, Corn Varieties, Forage Varieties (annual), Soybean Varieties and a demonstration showing varieties of corn and fertilizer treatments used during the past century. Other research areas will be discussed with those who what to visit outlying areas or other projects on the station Smith says. The tour is scheduled to be completed by 4:00 p.m.

Lime Lawns For Profit

BY A. J. Powell, Jr.

The profit in your lawn concerns not money but concerns the development of a dense turf which will add aesthetics to the landscape and provide a useful and enjoyable soil cover. In order to obtain the dense turf one must use certain management tools such as a mower, irrigation, fertilizer, weed control, insect control, etc. Identifying the limiting factor or the lawn deterrent is often difficult. It is normal for the homeowner to spend countless dollars attempting to correct problems that do not exist.

How long has it been since you limed your lawn? A high soil acidity resulting from a lack of needed lime is often the most limiting factor to good turf development and certainly is the cheapest problem to correct. Lawns established on heavy clay subsoils are especially susceptible to acid conditions. Although lime may have been added during the construction of the lawn, its affects may not last more than 2 or 3 years. The same is true for maintenance applications of lime.

If your lawn has not been limed in the last three years and/or you suspect acidity problems, have your soil tested. To do this, obtain a soil test kit from your local Cooperative Extension Agent. Sample the lawn area according to the directions provided with the kit and return the sample to the Extension Agent's office for the free analysis. You will then receive the results and his recommendations for reducing the acidity conditions in your lawn. As an added benefit you will also receive results and recommendations concerning other nutrients needed.

Does your soil need lime? To find out, there is no time like the present.
